

ST. LOUIS TIMES®

Timely News for Mature Minds, Bodies & Spirits

2018 MEDIA KIT

The St. Louis Times has been publishing with purpose since our debut in 1994. As a professional media organization we are grounded in a heart-felt mission to “do some good for our areas aging population.” We started as a monthly newsmagazine determined to address the informational needs of older adults and the professionals who work with them. Along the way we’ve published numerous products, hosted over 100 events, and participated or sponsored various endeavors consistent with our mission. We are grateful to have been honored with over 25 local and National Mature Media Awards and have been recognized as a valuable, community-wide media source.

We are not your traditional media company, nor are the demographic readers who we serve. They are eclectic and almost impossible to profile in the depth and range of their interests, tastes and lifestyle choices. Collectively, they encompass a wide range of underserved needs that inspire us to do as much good for them as we possibly can. Bottom line – we are very good at what we do and our purpose fits us well. We have created our own path as we’ve listened and responded to the tens of thousands who have joined us along the way.

At best, marketing is difficult in a society bombarded and cluttered with so many messages, and at worst it can be overwhelming, frustrating, and unproductive. We would not still be doing what we’ve done from the beginning if we hadn’t been told time and time again that we make a difference. A significant difference, to a specific person in need, at a time when it’s most needed. Isn’t that what it’s all about?

The good news is that you do not have to do it alone. Just give us a chance to prove it!

Sincerely,

John Rothbarth
Publisher / St. Louis Times

DEMOGRAPHICS

One-third of Americans will be over the age of 50 by 2016. According to Georgia State University's Center for Mature Consumer Studies, today's mature market (those aged 55 and above) already controls 75% of America's wealth and 70% of its disposable income. And don't forget that in 2011, the first baby boomers turned 65, signaling a paradigm shift in the mature market which will impact everything from wants and needs to marketing strategies.

- Recent census data indicates that people aged 55+ represent 26% of the U.S. population and a whopping 66% of the country's net worth, or $14 trillion.
- Americans are living three decades longer now than they did a century ago.
- Boomers (age 45 to 64) and seniors (65+) own 63% of all American financial assets, making them a serious economic force to be reckoned with and a highly coveted group for marketers.
- The 50+ demo accounts for half of all consumer expenditures -- yet a shockingly small 10% of marketing dollars are targeted toward 50+. Clearly, the numbers don't add up, and overlooking the 50+ demographic is a major marketing mistake. Targeting the 50+ demo, marketers will see serious payoff when it comes to benefitting their bottom line.

The population age 65 and over has increased from 36.2 million in 2004 to 46.2 million in 2014 (a 28% increase) and is projected to more than double to 98 million in 2060. By 2040, there will be about 82.3 million older persons, over twice their number in 2000. People 65+ represented 14.5% of the population in the year 2014 but are expected to grow to be 21.7% of the population by 2040. The 85+ population is projected to triple from 6.2 million in 2014 to 14.6 million in 2040.

Number of Persons 65+: 1900-2060 (numbers in millions)

Note: Increments in years are uneven.
